GOD RUNS THE MARKETPLACE!

THE MARKETPLACE BELONGS TO GOD.

5 PRINCIPLES FOR LEADING, BUILDING, AND SUCCEEDING WITH PURPOSE

FAITH • BUSINESS • LEADERSHIP • CULTURE

DR. ROHNESHA MICHELLE HORNE, D.Div.

Marketplace Strategist | Speaker | Consultant | Bible Teacher

A NOTE FROM THE AUTHOR

Faith belongs in every arena of life.

The marketplace is not separate from God's purposes. It is a place where people make decisions, solve problems, create, serve, lead, build relationships, and steward resources. Your faith does not have to be checked at the door when you enter a workplace, boardroom, business meeting, studio, or entrepreneurial venture.

Whether you are an executive, entrepreneur, employee, creative, consultant, or emerging leader, you have an opportunity to honor God through the way you work and the way you lead. This guide offers five principles to help you approach your professional life with faith, intention, integrity, and excellence.

This is not a promise that faith guarantees a particular financial outcome, title, or promotion. It is an invitation to align your choices, character, effort, and influence with biblical principles and trust God with the results.

HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

Read one principle at a time. Reflect on the Scripture, consider the marketplace application, complete the action step, and use the prayer as a starting point for your own conversation with God. Keep this guide nearby as you make decisions and pursue your professional goals.

1. RECOGNIZE GOD'S OWNERSHIP

You are a steward, not the owner.

Psalm 24:1 • Deuteronomy 8:18

Everything begins with remembering that God is the source of life, opportunity, creativity, wisdom, and provision. Your career, business, position, influence, and resources are not separate from your relationship with Him. Stewardship changes the way we approach what has been entrusted to us: we seek wisdom, manage responsibly, remain grateful, and recognize that our decisions matter.

IN THE MARKETPLACE

Instead of treating your professional life as an area where God has no authority, invite Him into your decisions, vision, goals, strategy, finances, and relationships. Ask what faithful stewardship looks like in the season you are in.

YOUR ACTION STEP

Identify one area of your professional life that you have been managing without intentionally inviting God into it. What would change if you approached it as stewardship?

PRAYER

Dear Lord, remind me that everything I have is entrusted to me. Give me wisdom to steward my opportunities, resources, relationships, and responsibilities in a way that honors You. In Jesus Name, Amen.

2. LEAD WITH PURPOSE

Your assignment is bigger than your paycheck.

Ephesians 2:10 • Proverbs 16:3

Work can be a vehicle for purpose, service, innovation, and impact. You are not simply filling a position or generating revenue. You have an opportunity to use your gifts to solve problems, serve people, create value, and contribute meaningfully. Purpose does not always mean a dramatic career change. Sometimes it means faithfully serving where you are while recognizing the difference your contribution can make.

IN THE MARKETPLACE

Ask not only, 'What can I get from this opportunity?' but also, 'What am I called to contribute through this opportunity?' Look for the people you serve, the problems you help solve, and the gifts you can bring to your work.

YOUR ACTION STEP

Write down one problem you are uniquely equipped to solve in your industry, community, business, or organization. How can you use your gifts to address it?

PRAYER

Father God, help me see my work through the lens of purpose. Direct my plans and show me how to use the gifts You have given me to serve others. In Jesus Name, Amen.

3. PURSUE EXCELLENCE AS WORSHIP

Your work is an expression of what you believe.

Colossians 3:23–24 • Proverbs 22:29

Excellence is not perfectionism. It is a commitment to preparation, diligence, growth, quality, and honoring God through the work entrusted to you. Our faith should influence how we show up: how we prepare, communicate, solve problems, meet deadlines, develop our skills, and treat the people who depend on us.

IN THE MARKETPLACE

Your professionalism, communication, execution, creativity, reliability, and preparation are part of your testimony. Excellence also includes humility—the willingness to learn, receive feedback, improve, and recognize that you do not have to know everything.

YOUR ACTION STEP

Identify one skill, system, or professional standard you need to strengthen. Choose a practical step you can take this month to grow in it.

PRAYER

Dear Lord God, help me work wholeheartedly, not for recognition alone, but because I desire to honor You. Give me discipline, humility, creativity, and a commitment to excellence. In Jesus Name, Amen.

4. BUILD WITH INTEGRITY

Never sacrifice your character to secure your success.

Proverbs 11:1 • Proverbs 10:9

Success without integrity is a dangerous trade. God's principles should govern how we negotiate, lead, communicate, manage money, treat people, and make decisions—even when no one is watching. Integrity is more than avoiding wrongdoing; it is consistency between what we profess, what we value, and what we practice.

IN THE MARKETPLACE

Honor commitments. Tell the truth. Treat people fairly. Give credit appropriately. Be transparent about expectations. Refuse to manipulate people or misrepresent your work to gain an advantage. A reputation may take years to build, but trust is worth protecting.

YOUR ACTION STEP

Evaluate one current business or professional decision. Are your methods aligned with the values you profess? If a change is needed, take a responsible next step.

PRAYER

Father God, strengthen my character. Help me choose honesty, fairness, and courage when doing the right thing is difficult. Let my private decisions match my public values. In Jesus Name, Amen.

5. USE YOUR INFLUENCE TO ILLUMINATE

Your success should make a difference beyond yourself.

Matthew 5:14–16 • 1 Timothy 6:17–19

God can use your position, resources, relationships, knowledge, creativity, and influence to serve others and bring light into environments that need it. Influence is not only a platform or a title. It can be the way you encourage a colleague, mentor someone, advocate for a person who is overlooked, create an opportunity, or bring hope and wisdom to a difficult situation.

IN THE MARKETPLACE

Your leadership can create opportunity, develop talent, strengthen communities, and demonstrate godly values without compromising excellence. Consider how your success can become a source of generosity, encouragement, opportunity, and service.

YOUR ACTION STEP

Identify one person you can intentionally encourage, develop, advocate for, mentor, or create an opportunity for this month. Make a specific plan and follow through.

PRAYER

Lord God, help me use my influence with humility and purpose. Let the work of my hands and the way I treat people point toward goodness, generosity, and Your light. In Jesus Name, Amen.

YOUR NEXT STEP

Faith. Purpose. Action.

The marketplace is not outside the reach of God. It is one of the places where your faith, character, gifts, leadership, and obedience can be demonstrated every day.

You were not merely called to occupy a position. You were called to make a difference. Lead with purpose. Build with integrity. Work with excellence. Steward what has been entrusted to you. And remember: your influence is an opportunity to serve.

As you move forward, let your faith shape not only what you believe, but how you build, lead, create, serve, and make decisions.

REFLECTION

Which of these five principles do you most need to put into practice in this season? What is one action you will take within the next seven days?

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Dr. Rohnesha Michelle Horne is a marketing strategist, live event producer, consultant, speaker, and Bible teacher with 18 years of experience in marketing, media, branding, strategic communications, and event production. Through RH Event Planning & Consulting, she helps organizations develop strategies, elevate brands, build partnerships, and execute meaningful experiences. Her thought leadership explores faith, business, leadership, and culture—equipping people to build, lead, market, and create with excellence while glorifying God.

CONNECT & EXPLORE

Speaking • Marketing Strategy • Event Production • Consulting
Website: rohneshamhorne.com
Email: contact@rohneshamhorne.com

GOD RUNS THE MARKETPLACE!